

ABOUT JOSHUA

Joshua Lozoff has been speaking and sharing magic for nearly twenty years.

Recently, Joshua was featured on the network TV competition show, Penn & Teller: Fool Us. The YouTube clip has been seen by nearly half a million people. And Joshua had the honor of being the only magician invited to perform at the World's Fair in Japan. He spent two weeks as a featured performer for the USA, entertaining Fair visitors from around the world.

Before turning his attention to magic, Joshua was a professional actor with featured roles on the TV show Cheers (as Gino Tortelli) and in the movie Clueless. You can see Joshua's martial arts skills on display in the film Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles.

After 14 years as a professional actor, Joshua left Hollywood to devote more time to service work, including volunteer stints throughout Latin America. It was during his travels that a chance encounter with a street magician sparked a new passion, and Joshua began his training. Traveling around the world, Joshua studied with master magicians on several continents. After years of full-time training, he began sharing his craft with others.

Today, he presents his keynote presentation, "The Magic of Communication" at conferences, seminars and retreats throughout the country.

And as a magician, he performs his stage show, Joshua Lozoff: Life is Magic at performing arts centers and corporate events across the US, as well as Asia and Latin America.
